1. Purpose

1.1. This Guide (hereinafter — the "Guide") explains the procedure for the use by Baltika Breweries LLC (hereinafter — the "Company") of cookies and other similar technologies for recognizing a user when visiting our website (hereinafter — the "Website"), as well as for improving its functionality. Including:

- what cookies are;
- what cookies we use on the Website;
- for what purposes we use cookies, and how long they are stored;
- how You can manage them.

Please take the time to read this Guide carefully. If You have any questions or comments, please contact us by email at contact@baltika.com.

1.2. We draw Your attention to the fact that the Company does not process cookies when using official pages on social networks. The processing of cookies on these websites is carried out in accordance with the policies and user agreements of the owners of such websites. Please review the documents posted on the relevant website in order to understand what cookies it uses.

2. Scope of Application

This Guide applies to the activities of all structural subdivisions of the Company that process cookies.

3. Regulatory References

This Guide has been issued pursuant to the Company's Regulation regarding the processing of personal data.

4. Responsibility

4.1. The person responsible for the processing of personal data of the Company is responsible for the compliance of this Guide with the requirements of legislation and the practices adopted in the Company.

4.2. The department of the Director of Corporate Affairs and Government Relations is responsible for the placement and availability of the Guide on the Website.

4.3. The Heads of the structural subdivisions of the Company that process cookies are responsible for fulfilling the requirements of the Guide.

5. What Are Cookies

5.1. Cookies are small data files, in the form of text and/or numbers, that are saved on a computer or any other device with an internet browser when visiting a website, so that the device is recognized upon a subsequent visit. Cookies may be used for various purposes, but are usually used to ensure the effective functioning of a website, to collect/store information about personal settings and ease of navigation. Cookies are passive files and cannot spread computer viruses or other malicious software.

5.2. Websites use information collected through cookies to remember information about the user and their preferences, such as whether the user is registered, how the website is used by the user, etc. Cookies are usually deleted automatically when the browser is closed (cookie session).

Important! When using a printed copy, it is necessary to verify it against the electronic original of the document placed in the Digital Library database in order to prevent the use of an outdated edition of the document.

5.3. Some cookies may be deleted on a certain date or after a certain period of time (persistent cookies). Such cookies are usually stored on Your hard drive. There is also a distinction between cookies belonging to the owner of a website (installed on the website visited by the user) and third-party cookies (installed by a third party with embedded links to the website visited by the user). Third-party cookies are usually installed by web analytics services, etc.

5.4. The type of cookies used on the Website and the periods of their processing are specified in Appendix No. 1 to this Guide.

6. Purposes of Using Cookies

6.1. The Company and the statistical web services mentioned below (web analytics services) use cookies for the following purposes:

- simplifying the obtaining of information about users' visits to the Website;
- analyzing information about users' visits to pages in order to improve the Website;
- assisting users in obtaining the necessary information;
- determining the number of visitors to the Website and how they use the Website, in order to improve the efficiency of the Website and to better understand the interests of its audience.

6.2. The information we collect is anonymous, and we cannot link the data collected with the help of cookies to other information about You as a User, nor can we establish your identity. Only the Company and the services mentioned below (web analytics services) have access to the information collected with the help of cookies.

6.3. In order to continuously improve the content and services on the Website, we continuously collect anonymous statistics with the help of statistical web services (web analytics services). We use Yandex.Metrica cookies to collect statistics on Your use of our Website. This helps us identify any anomalies and make the Website more convenient for You. Yandex.Metrica cookies contain a randomly generated ID used to recognize the browser when You read a page. They do not contain personal data and are used only for web analysis.

6.4. You can review the User Agreement of Yandex services, the Yandex Privacy Policy, and the Terms of Use of the Yandex.Metrica and AppMetrica service at the relevant links.

6.5. By continuing to use the Website, the visitor gives consent to the cross-border transfer and processing of cookies to the statistical service "Yandex.Metrica", administered by YANDEX LLC, 119021, Russia, Moscow, L. Tolstogo St., 16, whose servers, in addition to the Russian Federation, are located in the territory of the European Economic Area.

7. Refusal to Use Cookies

7.1. If You do not agree to provide cookies for processing by the Company, You may refuse their use in the ways specified below.

7.2. By changing the appropriate settings in the browser, You can reject cookies and/or configure Your browser so that You receive a warning before a cookie is saved.

7.3. You can also (in most browsers) go to additional browser settings and add our website to the list of websites with blocked cookies. In addition, You can delete individual cookies or all cookies that Your browser has saved. Browser manufacturers offer help pages on managing cookies in their products.
